Entering Our First Year
Our aim has been to present a pictorial history of this memorable year, the initial year of Euclid Senior High School.

We have been witnesses to and participants in the birth of Euclid High. We have seen the merging of two rival schools, whose students have worked together so well that the results seem miraculous. Much has been accomplished during this year; so that Euclid students are provided with many conveniences unknown to other schools.

It has been our sincerest desire that those who pass through these portals will always be a credit to their school. While many paths lead us to the four corners of the Earth, may the lessons we have learned here stand us in good stead in the years that lie ahead.
Many distinguished guests were present at the impressive ceremony held in the auditorium. Among these were Governor Frank Lausche, who delivered the dedication address, Dr. Clyde Hissong, state superintendent of public instruction, members of the board of education, and civic leaders. At the completion of speeches, Principal Clifford G. Owens was presented flags by Commander Howard Goebel of the American Legion, Post 343.

Following the close of the program, tea was served in the cafeteria by the Euclid Council of Parent-Teachers' Association, where the public was given an opportunity to meet the dignitaries, teachers, and friends.
We, the Euclidian staff of 1950, dedicate this book to the citizens of Euclid. Had it not been for their foresight, public spirit, and deep interest in the youth of this community, our school could not have become a reality.

Against tremendous odds in the way of steadily rising building costs, Euclid's citizens displayed great courage by meeting the challenge unflinchingly when the need arose for a new building.

Here, we have an edifice which stands as a monument to the community. The added facilities in this new institution of learning will give Euclid students of today and the future an even better chance of becoming successful citizens of our city and the world. We can justly be proud of so fine a building which has an equal nowhere.
The Students Choice
Mr. Euclid High - Fred Baldassarre
Miss Euclid High - Joida Turk
Mr. and Miss Euclid High were chosen by the student body as best exemplifying the worthy characteristics of Euclid High pupils, namely, attractiveness, friendliness, co-operation, and participation in school activities.

The two girls chosen as attendants to Miss Euclid High were elected on a similar basis, one representing the junior, the other, the sophomore class. All four students were chosen from a ballot of five contenders.
HERE'S EUCLID HIGH WITH HER SCHOLARSHIP...

As a field, however fertile, cannot be fruitful without cultivation, neither can a mind without learning.

—Cicero

The pursuit of scholarship is the purpose of a school. Euclid's modern facilities in every department provide the student with an opportunity to acquire a broad basic educational foundation and to develop his talents in fields of his choosing.

Euclid's faculty plays its most important role in the development of scholarship. They strive incessantly to raise to an even higher plane the standards of its scholarship.

Euclid Schools have sent sons and daughters out into the world who have captured more than a fair share of laurels. Most of the molders of youth at these older institutions of learning continue to help direct us toward a better, more secure destiny in their new workshop at Euclid High.
For when the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name, He marks—not that you won or lost—but how you played the game.

—Grantland Rice

Sportsmanship is one of the outstanding qualities of Euclid High. "On the square" fittingly describes her not only in athletics, but also in other competitive activities. The student body is invariably first to praise the achievements and victories of a rival, for their aim is always to play the game fairly and render honest, praiseworthy opinions of other schools. Euclid accepts defeat as a challenge to her sportsmanship.

Euclidites are staunch followers of their own teams and are ready to give credit for a hard-fought game, even if a team should fail to bring home a victory.
Friendship is a word the very sight of which in print makes the heart warm.

—Augustine Birrell

Many friendships have developed through work and play here at Euclid. Daily contact and innumerable social affairs have afforded the student body an opportunity to become better acquainted. Diversified recreational clubs have brought together students who possess similar interests, while sport events have instilled a keener sense of belonging and appreciation of one another in Euclid High pupils. These activities have helped form and bind countless friendships.

FACULTY
This yearbook represents an important milestone. Other classes have graduated from Central and Shore, but this book tells the story of the first January and the first June class to be graduated from the Senior High School. The young people of this class have had the privilege of completing their work in a time of a historical educational experience. No other class can have this distinction. I am hoping that the members appreciate this situation and will always have reason to recall the pleasant days and the happy experiences that they had in this outstanding building.

English . . .

United States History . . .

Students in Mr. Whiteside's United States history class gain an opportunity to learn more about our heritage, and the important factors which make our nation what it is today. Mr. Whiteside is pointing out to Babs Peterson a travel route used by the conquering American armies during the Revolution.

Government . . .

In Miss Gillman's classes, students receive a better insight into the workings of government, both in the classroom and in actual cases where the law is applied. By the use of this chart, Miss Gillman is indicating various types of government.
Advanced Algebra . . .

Advanced algebra is among the most essential prerequisites for a college education. Pupils of Mr. Koth obtain an excellent foundation in this important subject. Applying the factor theorem are Ruth Thomas, Maynard Makman, and Don Mahne.

French . . .

Entering Mr. MacKeigan's French class is much like a visit to a foreign land, for we are perplexed by the babble of strange sounds. In accordance with latest educational trends, the language is learned by the association of a mental picture with the object, rather than by English translations. Learning vocabulary by the association method are Joan Archibald, Jim Litz, and Mary Welling.

Dramatics . . .

"All the world's a stage," and during drama classes all students are the players. Shown enacting "Poor Maddelena" are Bill Koshko, Cornelia Crouse, and Dolores Page.

Biology...

Students of Mr. Calvert's biology classes obtain a fundamental knowledge of the physical structure of many organisms through careful examination of plants and animals. Scrutinizing mollusks are George Burns, Rita Lausche, Doris Clayton, Jean Coski, and Bill Nobbe.

Horticulture...

Horticulture is a new addition to Euclid's curriculum. In a well equipped room conducive to the growing of plants, students explore the mysteries of nature under the skillful guidance of Mr. Gebhart. Sue Town, Harry Hershey, and Mr. Gebhart are examining ferns.
Office Practice . . .

Here, in Mr. Smith's office practice classes, are to be found the secretaries and business leaders of tomorrow. Learning more about the operation of these machines are Ruth Recher, Sue Scott, Lois Kuzar, Roger Cross, and Edna Creighton.

Shorthand . . .

Through diligent practice, students in Miss Darst's Gregg shorthand classes are soon able to transcribe eighty words per minute.

Typing . . .

Typing is one of the important assets in the competitive world of today. In this typical class, Miss Phypers gives Euclid students an opportunity to become skilled typists. Miss Phypers is helping Ronald Potokar.
Apartment . . .

In the apartment used by home economics classes, girls acquire valuable knowledge towards becoming efficient home makers. Drying dishes are Pat Spencer, Carolyn Karlovic, and Elaine Schottke.

Cooking . . .

The rudiments of table etiquette are practiced in this section of the home economics department. Being served by Margaret Reilly are Beverly Carano, Carol Kazar, Ida Bickley, and Mildred Infantalino.

Sewing . . .

Among the keenest satisfactions of the fairer sex is the pleasure derived from making part of their personal wardrobe. Exceptionally fine work has been done under the careful guidance of Miss Lemon. Rose Marie Mannion is receiving instruction from Miss Lemon, while Gertrude Filsinger, Betty Pollack, and Dolors Boduroff work on their wardrobe.
Machine Shop . . .

After he is finished with Mr. Price's machine shop course, any boy can take a place in this mechanically minded world, for he has learned well the fundamentals of machine shop practice. Ed Kovacich and Mr. Price are admiring one of the new machines.

Mechanical Drawing . . .

In the mechanical drawing classes of Mr. Pohto, students receive a basic foundation in draftsmanship, so that by the end of the course they are able to draw house plans. Dave Kramer is using the transit.

Industrial Science . . .

Students in Mr. Keay's industrial science classes must be doubly attentive or find themselves at sea. Here, Boyle's law, Archimedes' principle, and the rudiments of mechanics are taught. Ed Kovacich, Jim Stewart, Chuck Vano, and George Blanchfield are learning how to use a micrometer.
Art

Seeing a lovely bowl or a striking figure emerge from a lump of clay is one of the joys of an art class. Here, Mr. Vollman teaches sketching, painting, and ceramics. Dick Cameron watches Ruth Marsh and Barbara Key paint in watercolor.

Honor Study Hall

Run by the Student Council, without the supervision of a teacher, the honor study halls were instituted to encourage scholarship and to give good students an opportunity to practice responsibility and self-direction. Rally Cicirelli is in charge of this study hall.

Library

Peace and quiet prevail in the library, which students use as a source of reference and for general reading purposes. The friendly assistance of Miss Bawditch, head librarian, is available at all times.
The council solves student problems, renders services for both the faculty and student body, and sponsors many activities throughout the year. It also operates the recreation room in which students dance and play ping-pong at noon; the store room, where school supplies are sold; and the reception room, where visitors are received during school hours.

THE STORE ROOM
Under the direction of the Student Council, the Store Room has been a great service to the students. Here they may buy paper, pencils, book covers, and other school supplies.
Euclid's student government, a democratic organization representing the entire student body, is composed of one representative from each homeroom. It had its beginning last summer when Mr. Koth worked with the Planning Committee. This organization deserves much credit for its excellent work in our school.

THE RECREATION ROOM . . .

The "Rec. Room," under the direction of the student council, has been a great service to the student body. During lunch periods students may dance, play ping-pong, or just chat with one another.
Once again, the initiation of members into the National Honor Society was the most colorful and impressive assembly of the year. To be elected a member of the N. H. S. is the highest honor which may be conferred upon a high school student. Members of the faculty and National Honor Society consider for membership juniors and seniors in the upper third of their class upon the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

FUTURE TEACHERS

Y-TEEN

Commonly known as the Friendship Club, the Y-Teen is the school’s largest club for girls. The club corresponds to the Hi-Y in that it is a junior Y.W.C.A. organization. These two clubs jointly sponsored an informal dance at Christmas and a formal in the spring.

SOCIAL CLUBS

World Affairs Club

The world affairs club, whose activities are supervised by Mrs. Stewart, is a junior organization working for world peace. The club studies actions and methods of the United Nations Assembly, to which it sends a delegate to observe first hand the proceedings of the U. N. Assembly at Western Reserve University.

First Aid . . .

The aim of the first aid club is to impart to its members a knowledge of first aid essentials. Mr. DiBiasio is the sponsor.

Junior Red Cross . . .

The purpose of the Junior Red Cross is to render service. Miss Aingworth leads the group by teaching methods of developing efficient organization when catastrophe strikes.

Music Appreciation . . .

By listening to recordings of musical masterpieces, the music appreciation club gains a better understanding of the classics. Miss Berg sponsors the club.
SOCIAL CLUBS

Home Nursing . . .

The practical lessons learned in home nursing prove invaluable throughout a girl's lifetime. Miss Bierberle, school nurse, is the instructor.

Needlework . . .

For centuries woman has found pleasure in doing needlework. The girls in Miss Patrick's needlework club are no exception.

Round Table . . .

Discussion and debate on topics of current national and international interest with a goal of gaining a deeper insight into these problems is the purpose of the round table club. These spirited weekly discussions, conducted under the guidance of Mr. Whiteside, are keenly anticipated by all members.

Writing for Fun . . .

The Writing for Fun Club, as its name implies, is composed of students who write merely for the pleasure they derive from writing. Mr. Apple assists the club members with their work.
Flower Club . . .

The flower club studies floral arrangements, grows plants, and displays flowers under Mr. Smith's guidance.

Mathematics for Fun . . .

Pupils possessing a logical mind find recreation by delving into deeper mathematics under the tutelage of Mr. Buerger.

Literary Club . . .

Euclidites with a liking for good literature read and discuss the old classics and contemporary works in Mr. Blackburn's literary club.
Chess and Checkers . . .

Members of this club may play either chess or checkers during their weekly recreational period under Mr. Price’s direction.

Science . . .

The science club explores the many mysteries of science under the direction of Mr. Heinlein. It investigates any phase of science of particular interest to the members.

Camera Club . . .

In the camera club, pupils are taught how to make proper exposures and the darkroom technique of developing and printing. Mr. Gebhart instructs the group.
SOCIAL CLUBS

Dancing . . .

Formed to give students proper guidance in ballroom dancing, members of the dancing club received formal instruction from professionals of the Fred Astaire Studios. After a series of ten lessons, the eighty-five members spent the remainder of the semester enjoying and perfecting their newly acquired skill. The club sponsors, Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Shepord, direct activities.

Diamond Sports . . .

The nucleus of the baseball team can be found in the diamond sports club. Headed by Mr. Poto, the group studies and discusses important plays and the rules of the game.

Singing for Fun . . .

The Singing for Fun Club was organized for those who like to sing but are unable to join a choir. Composed of ninety-four members, the club under Mr. Beck’s direction meets for one period each week.
Knitting . . .
Versatile knitters hail from Mrs. Barrow's knitting club. Perhaps, before long, Euclid men will be displaying argyles.

Pinochle . . .
The pinochle club is perfecting its technique with the aid of faculty overseer, Mr. Vaccariello.

Whittling . . .
Whittling, an interesting hobby, has been revived. With Mr. Eckert as its mentor, the members make many unusual and artistic objects.
SOCIAL CLUBS

Gymnastics . . .
Organized to teach interested boys gymnastics, the club staged an assembly demonstrating their many skills. The club is instructed by Mr. Calvert.

Bridge . . .
Co-sponsored by Mrs. Sheats and Mr. Graham, the bridge club is divided into two groups. At the semester's end, when members had become proficient, the two divisions held a championship game. The winning team is known as club number one.

Meteorology . . .
Anyone desiring a forecast of the weather needs only consult a member of the meteorology club. Mr. Heinlein is at the helm of the amateur meteorologists.

Canasta . . .
Supervised by Miss Darst, the canasta club was organized to instruct those interested in learning how to play today's most popular card game.

Hershey, Pat Wade will accompany the following acts in turn: The Male Chorus of 50 voices; a saxophone solo "Nola" by Mike Stofanchik; a piano duet, featuring Maynard Makman and Harry Hershey; a violin and piano duet by the Makman brothers and a four minute "Cohen on the telephone" by a student who is being withheld from the audience.

The first person who gives Mr. Beck the correct identification after the concert will be rewarded with "two bananas splits".

Marilyn Watkins will sing, "Love Scenes a Little Gift of Boys"; a trumpet trio will play "Flirtation"; a group of tap dancers, under the direction of Bob Peterson will dance; Arthur Gray will sing the bass solo "Fields of the Golden "

The editorial staff of the EUCLIDIAN, under the direction of Mr. Angene, began early to plan the year's work. Here Dan McPherson, copy editor, Dan Moser and Elizabeth Jonasen, assistant editors, help Beverly Hagen, editor, work on mounting and paste ups for the engraver and printer.

Typing the day's report on EUCLIDIAN sales is Jaida Turk, assistant circulation manager, while Angela Dragonette and Ray Sturm, business managers, discuss new ideas to raise funds and Kathy Bates, art editor, and Jackie Gribbons work on the layout of our first yearbook.

The necessary funds for the EUCLIDIAN were raised by the business staff, under the direction of Mr. Bennett. Ray Grill, advertising manager, and Tom Sugden, assistant advertising manager, discuss the budget with circulation manager, Pat Spencer.
Recognition for outstanding work on school publications is awarded by membership in the International Quill and Scroll.

To qualify for membership, a student must be in the upper third of his class scholastically, be recommended by the advisor of the publication to which he has contributed noteworthy work, and submit samples of work to the Secretary of the International Honor Society of Quill and Scroll for approval.

A nationally affiliated honorary society, the Euclid National Forensic League is the only school organization which continues to honor students after graduation. Aspiring members are admitted into the society by acquiring twenty points. Points are won by participation in interscholastic contests in debate, oratorical, humorous, and dramatic declamations, as well as by making speeches and announcements before an assemblage of not fewer than twenty adults. In an effort to earn more points, students participate in both local and state contests. After gaining membership, members may work toward three higher honorary degrees.
OUR MUSIC
Mr. Harper enjoys the luxury of his own phone while band secretaries Gerry Lebar and Joanne Hester check the attendance of the day's rehearsal.
Assembling their instruments for rehearsal are band librarians Ray Vermillion, Dorothy Levar, and Marsue Keyerleber in the spacious instrument room.
Nancy Rice and Wesley Wheaton, choir secretaries, help Mr. Beck sort out tickets to the Christmas Concert.
School Choir

Sally Steed accompanies soloists Bob Behnke and Alyce Sowden as they enjoy the comforts of one of the many practice rooms.
Although the orchestra is in reality a class, it embodies the rare quality of cooperation which one obtains only in such activities as other music organizations, dramatics, and athletics. The orchestra played at the commencement and cooperated with the choral groups in presenting the Christmas concert and the spring operetta, H. M. S. Pinafore.

Tuning up in a practice room are Donald McPherson with the violin, Bob Mansperger playing the cello, and Carl Deiner with the bass viole.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB...

The many members of the Girls Glee Club gather on Thursday evening with Miss Jan Tompkins to do what they enjoy most, sing. This group makes far too few public appearances.

KORNY KOBBS...

Euclid High's answer to Spike Jones, and the most entertaining group in town are our own Korny Kobbs. Harry Hershey, conductor and arranger for the group, has molded these talented amateurs into an outfit of professional caliber.

FLORIDORAS...

The Gay Nineties couldn't have been gayer than these twelve, who sing and dance in a style reminiscent of bygone days. Under the direction of Mrs. John Pohta, this group has been very entertaining.
BOYS GLEE CLUB . . .

The Boys Glee Club made its first public appearance at Gala Night and won both the applause and admiration of the audience. At this time they introduced a song that Mr. Beck had written as a suggested Alma Mater. Their love for singing and their fine voices combine to offer good entertainment.

TAP DANCERS . . .

The tap dancers provided fine entertainment for both the students and the public when they appeared in assemblies and programs. Directed and taught by Babs Peterson, these girls did a variety of dances for every occasion. (Kneeling) Joan Dondrea and Lois Osberg, (Standing) Babs Peterson, Marge Callahan, Corrine Sbrocco, and Lona Preston.

BAND BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Annually, the band and orchestra elect a board of directors. Composed of ten members, this governing body arranges social affairs, enacts rules concerning equipment and behavior, and directs publicity for concerts.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

The Girls' Athletic Association, under the direction of Miss Gill, sponsors intramural games by which girls may earn an athletic letter. The policy of the organization is formulated by an athletic board composed of the officers and one girl in charge of each sport.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC BOARD
IN THE GYM

HOCKEY . . .

The hockey team, coached by Miss Gill, was the only girls team formed solely to represent our school in outside competition. The team was a member of the Lake Erie League for Women, and played such schools as Laurel and Hathaway Brown. Diligent practicing on Tuesday and Friday afternoons helped them perfect the co-ordination which enabled them to win the majority of their games.

LETTER WINNERS . . .

To earn a G.A.A. letter it is necessary to be versatile as well as active. The girls must earn three hundred points by competing in various types of intramurals ranging from basketball to ping-pong and badminton. Seventy-five of these points may be obtained by participation in no fewer than three outside activities such as hiking, bowling and skating.

VOLLEY BALL . . .

Volley ball is one of the most popular of the girls' intramural sports because it allows a larger number of girls to play without detracting from the speed or skill of the game. League winners play off to determine the school championship.
CADETTES...

The Cadettes, who assist Mrs. Shepard in her swimming classes, must also be proficient in life saving and synchronized swimming.

LIFE SAVING...

The goal of the life saving group is to achieve Red Cross life saving certificates by acquiring the knowledge required of a life guard. Here Joanne Hester is demonstrating the use of artificial respiration on Jane Anderson, while Betty Hale, Carol Crockett, Jean Frost, Monica Brown, and Mrs. Shepard observe.

SYNCHRONIZED SWIMMING

To many girls the high light of the week was the Tuesday night synchronized swimming session. The girls took part in several programs in which they presented water ballets and other intricate formations. Here Jean Fertig is demonstrating diving techniques, while Dody Patterson, Corny Crouse, Monica Brown, Virginia Crickon, Nancy Follis, Joanne Hester, Betty Hale, and Jane Anderson watch.
The Girls' Leaders Club is the most important athletic club for girls. Members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, initiative, dependability, and athletic ability. These leaders assist Miss Gill in gym classes and in intramural tournaments.

Coaches Clarence Eckert, Sparky DiBiasio, and Jim Calvert did not know what kind of team they were going to have when they called the boys together for the first time early in August. They were more than pleased with the results, for the team was able to win four out of seven games. Head coach Sparky DiBiasio and his assistants, Jim Calvert and Clarence Eckert, are to be congratulated for their fine job.

As Euclid Senior High School's football team triumphed over Ashtabula in their first encounter in history, they started a tradition which we hope will be carried on for many years. The Panthers then trounced a strong eleven from Zanesville. Next victim to fall into the clutches of the Panthers was Shaw, who went down fighting in a hard battle at Shaw Stadium. Journeying down-state to Mansfield, our heroes of the gridiron suffered defeat at the hands of one of Ohio's strongest elevens. Making a comeback, the Euclidites defeated Parma in a smoothly-fought contest. One of the most powerful teams in the region, University moved into Euclid and overpowered the locals in one of the hardest, closest-fought battles of the season. The last engagement of the season was with Toledo DeVilbiss, who defeated the Panthers as they exerted a mighty surge of power.

Thus, the football season came to an end. The record of five victories and three defeats created by the Euclid High Panthers in their first season is indeed impressive when we consider the caliber of the teams encountered.

Overcoming the handicap of never having played together, the basketball team had a surprisingly good season, winning eleven games and losing seven. Coaches Jim Calvert and Sparky DiBiasio did a fine job of molding the boys into a team. Bill Lindsay and Ed Nobbe were co-captains until they graduated mid-season, when Bob Silvola took their place. Here the co-captains and coaches are discussing the line-up for a coming game.
Euclid's basketball team, coached by Jim Calvert, played eighteen games in a thrill-packed season. Bedford, our first and last opponent, lost their first encounter by twenty-one points, their second by one point, and won the tournament game, again by one point.

After being trounced by a strong Ashtabula team, we bounced back to defeat a powerful Akron Garfield five. After we had lost to Shaker Heights, Cleveland Heights, and Lakewood, co-captain Ed Nobbe decided not to shave until the team won a game. After a shaveless week, the cagers got back on their feet by overpowering Bedford and University. Having lost to Cuyahoga Falls, Canton Lehman, and Garfield, we fought back, defeating Maple Heights in the last game in which co-captains Ed Nobbe and Bill Lindsay played. Under the leadership of their newly-elected captain, Bob Silvola, the Panthers defeated both Brush and Lorain, the latter by one point. Cuyahoga Falls again proved too strong for our five; however, the season ended with a victory over Akron South.

PHIL GUTMANN

Phil Gutmann's four-year wrestling career was climaxed at East High on March 4, when he won the state heavy weight wrestling crown. In the last two years Phil has not been scored upon in a dual meet, and has had ten straight pins. Running true to form, Phil was the only tournament participant who was not scored upon during his four rounds.

Don Barry and Ronnie Potoker

Bob Setron and Dick Michelbrink
As the baseball season opened, Coach John Pohto was very optimistic about his team's chances on the diamond. On April 3 the Euclid Panthers played the Collinwood Railroaders in a practice game. Several returning lettermen were on the squad including Fred Baldassarre and Rollie Cicirelli in the outfield; John Omerza and Dennis Rinaldi, pitchers; Bob Silvola, Tom Srpan, and Roy Brown in the infield.
Mr. Swackhamer’s track team was composed almost entirely of veteran cindersmen. Jim Wright, Tony Bechemer, Harald Moses, and Bob Behnke, just several of the returning lettermen, were expected to be even better this year. They were given their first big test at the Arena Track Meet on March 31. The team competed in Class B.

Getting ready for a race are Jack Thompson and Jim Wright, while Coach Swackhamer and Harold Moses look on.
Every Wednesday, the best golfers of Euclid High met with Mr. Blackburn to practice their technique. Entered in the Interscholastic League, they compete against such schools as Cleveland Heights, Shaker, and Benedictine. Lettermen Angelo Dragonette and Louis Zupanic returned from last year to be two of the four that comprise the first team. Four more boys were also chosen as alternates.

The Swim Cadets, under the direction of Mr. Robert Lewis, were organized to assist him in the pool. In order to qualify, boys must swim 440 yards and demonstrate four different strokes. Every Wednesday they gather together with Mr. Lewis to practice the essentials of swimming and also to be trained in the rules and essentials of life saving.
Good Times at Euclid

Here at Euclid High we have had a full year. From that September day when we first gathered together to that memorable June day when we received our diplomas, we have shared serious moments and happy ones. In September . . . Our first assembly, the Get Acquainted Dance. October . . . The Pixie Dance, Euclid High’s Dedication. November . . . Gala Night, the Football Dance, the Band Concert, the Junior Play “John Loves Mary.” December . . . the Hi-Y-Friendship Dance, the Christmas Concert, the Key Club Formal. January . . . the first Commencement. February . . . The Senior Party, the Band Concert, the Hi-Y-Friendship Formal, the Basketball Tournament, the Basketball Dance. March . . . The Operetta, “H. M. S. Pinafore,” Career Week. April . . . Big Night, the Senior Play “Our Hearts Were Young and Gay,” John Beck Appreciation Night. May . . . The Music Festival, the Junior-Senior Prom. June . . . Senior Night, Baccalaureate, and Commencement. These we will never forget.
Now What's Wrong?

Watch Out!

Our cheerleaders were second in tournament competition
On September 7, 1949, we entered our school for the first time. None of us could cease being awed by the magnificence of our $4,000,000 edifice which consists of 61 class rooms furnished with the most modern equipment.

The fluorescent lighted halls are walled in tile and Italian marble and lined with 1800 lockers.

Nearest and dearest to the hearts was the 75 by 42 foot swimming pool, which ranges from 4 to 11 feet in depth. Our joy was short lived because the pool spent most of the year under repair.

The huge, well stocked library was made to accommodate 600 students a period, so that no student will ever have to be denied admittance because of overcrowded conditions.
Starting a season of gala events, the Student Council sponsored a get-acquainted dance on Friday, September 9. We danced in the cafeteria to the latest popular tunes and polkas as played by the orchestras of Arnie Hayes and John Okicki.

Come October . . . And the Pixie Dance, which featured some of the year’s most unusual decorations. It was held on October 22, to raise funds for the EUCLIDIAN.

We were all fortunate to be present on Sunday, October 30, a day that will go down in Euclid’s history, to witness the formal dedication of Euclid Senior High School. Governor Lausche, Supt. Erwine, and Principal Owens spent several minutes discussing this fabulous new building.

With November . . . The first variety program of the year, Gala Night, was presented on November 1 to an enthusiastic audience. A talent-packed program, directed by John Beck and Rollie Cicirelli, M. C., provided a wonderful evening of entertainment.
Early in the year the EUCLIDIAN Editorial and Business staffs began work on the largest project of the year, the results of which you see before you.

Dolores Frobotta reigned as queen at the first Student Council Football dance, November 29, with Marlene Krouse and Betty Wise as attendants.

The juniors’ chief contribution of the year was the class play, “John Loves Mary” which starred Ralph Weber as the soldier who came home, and Sue Town as the girl who waited for him.

Adeline Baldassarre was the Junior Class’s choice for attendant to Miss Euclid High. Vernie Palsa and Dorothy Funk lost by only slight margins.
Basketball season saw students and adults alike fill the gym, which has a seating capacity of 2,400, to cheer for a strong team. The bleachers are folded against the walls after the games.

Members of the team congratulated each other after defeating one of the best teams in the state, Akron-Garfield. This team went on to the semi-finals of the state. Coach Jim Calvert was justly proud of this victory.

Then December . . . When Christmas rolled around, the Friendship dance was in perfect harmony with the joyous holiday spirit as the happy couples spent the evening in the land of Kris Kringle.

From a slate of five sophomores, three tied for third place. Lois Osberg won the title of sophomore attendant to Miss Euclid High with Joan Dondrea being a close second.
DOLORES FRABOTTA
Football Queen
The Key Club, a new school organization under the guidance of Mr. Voorhees, held its first formal during the Christmas season in Wade Park Manor Ballroom.

Came January . . . The student body lined up to mark their printed ballots in private booths during the first Student Council election on Tuesday, January 10.

Pat Wawrzyniak, Jim Wright, Joida Turk, and Ted Monocelli wore victory smiles after being elected president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

Joida Turk, Kay Sturm, and Betty Johnson were chosen from a slate of five girls to be finalists for the title of Miss Euclid High. The students cast their votes for Joida Turk who reigned as Miss Euclid High.
The reserve cheerleaders (from left to right) Joan Dondrea, Carolyn Hartzell, Elaine Repicky, Charlotte Stuzen, Audree Simonic, Lois Payne, Ro Ferro, and Rita Dugan worked as hard at cheering the reserve team on to victory as the team did at winning.

Then February . . . And the cafeteria was decorated in an Egyptian theme for the annual Hi-Y Friendship formal, which was held on Saturday, February 25.

And March . . . The cafeteria was filled with cheering and applause as attendants Jean Pavlina and Betty Wise watched Jean Henry be crowned queen at the Student Council Basketball Dance on Friday, March 17.

The finalists in the Mr. Euclid High contest were Fred Baldassarre, Bill Lindsay, and Rollie Cicirelli, with Fred being the winner.
From March 1 to 11 Euclid’s spacious gymnasium was the site of the Class A Basketball Tournaments at which the students of Euclid High were presented with an American Legion Sportsmanship plaque, displayed here by the cheerleaders.

More than five hundred students can be served at one time in the school lunch room, one of the most modern in the country. The modern equipment includes two refrigerators with two hundred cubic feet of storage space, several huge pressure cookers, automatic potato peelers, and a soup kettle four feet in diameter.

The snack bar, which is open during lunch periods, sells everything from pretzels to hot dogs and milk shakes to hurried students. Mrs. Allsopt is kept busy filling orders for hungry boys and girls.

March 24, our first operetta, H.M.S. Pinafore, starring Sally Steed and Dick DeGenova, offered a night of fine entertainment.

In April . . . Everyone with talent came out to perform April 18 to be part of Euclid’s first Big Night.

On April 22, all of Mr. Beck’s friends came either to offer their talents or support on John Beck Appreciation Night to help their friend who had given so much time, effort, and talent to our school.

At Baccalaureate, on June 4, we realized that we had come to the end of our high school career.

June 6, graduation was no longer in the dim future, it was now. We couldn’t help looking back, just once, as we left Euclid High, but the tears blurred the view just a little.

Everyone who has contributed to the success of the 1950 EUCLIDIAN, and especially . . .

Mr. Robert Bennett . . . Business Advisor . . . who, although confronted with an unusually large budget, has generously given his time and guidance to raise the funds that made this book possible.

Mr. Lester Angene . . . Editorial Advisor . . . whose guidance and hard work have been an indispensable help to us in putting this book together.

Mr. Ted Wahl and Mr. Ray Mileti . . . The Cleveland Engraving Company . . . Two splendid friends who have made many trips to our school to aid us with the layout and engravings of our book.

Mr. Edward T. Samuel . . . Edw. T. Samuel, Printers . . . who, in spite of his hospitalization, has obviously gone out of his way for our book. Not only has he printed the book in three colors, but has taken an unbelievable interest in it, for which we are profoundly grateful.

Mr. John Reith . . . Mueller Arts and Cover Company . . . who also has given of his time to help us design the cover which surrounds this book.

Raimor Studios . . . School Photographers . . . who have taken many more pictures than was required of them. It has been a pleasure to work with such a fine studio, where everyone has gone out of his way to co-operate with us.

Anthony Feratto . . . Another Fine Photographer . . . who has come to our school so many times at such short notice to take many of the pictures in this book.

The Administration and Faculty of Euclid Senior High . . . whose patience and co-operation during those days of taking pictures and securing ads have made this job much easier.

. . . and . . . The Staffs . . . It requires hard work on the part of many people to put a yearbook together . . . We sincerely thank you for a job well done.
